INFORMATIVE DIGEST/POLICY STATEMENT OVERVIEW

This rulemaking action clarifies and makes specific the circumstances under which a life parole consideration hearing may be delayed. The proposed amended regulation implements portions of Marsy's Law, including but not limited to the new extended periods for scheduling a hearing after parole denials as it relates to stipulations of unsuitability. In addition, it amends the language pertaining to victims and their rights at parole hearings.

Through the passage of Marsy's Law, Penal Code section 3041.5(b) is amended to eliminate the distinction between prisoners convicted of murder and prisoners convicted of other life offenses when setting the next hearing after a parole denial. Marsy's Law further amends Penal Code section 3041.5(b) by changing the period for scheduling a prisoner's next hearing after a parole denial from up to two years for non-murderers and up to five years for murderers to fifteen, ten, seven, five, or three years for all prisoners. In addition, Marsy's Law defines who has the right to appear at a parole consideration hearing and express their views about the prisoner and the case.

Subsection 2253(b)(1) of the amended regulation removes the distinction between prisoners with a commitment offense of murder and those with a commitment offense other than murder as it relates to the period of time for which a voluntary waiver may be requested.

Subsection 2253(b)(4) of the amended regulation reflects the statutory change by affording the victim, victim's next of kin, members of the victim's immediate family, and two victim's representatives the opportunity to give a statement on the record if a voluntary waiver is accepted during the week of the scheduled hearing.

Subsection 2253 (c)(1) of the amended regulation removes the distinction between prisoners with a commitment offense of murder and those prisoners with a commitment offense other than murder as it relates to the period of time for which a stipulation to unsuitability may be requested. Further, this regulation revises the time periods for a stipulation to unsuitability to three, five, seven, ten, or fifteen years from the date of the scheduled hearing, to comport with the new statutory language of Marsy's Law. In addition, this amended regulation reflects the statutory changes by including a victim, victim's next of kin, members of the victim's immediate family, and two victim's representatives, in addition to the District Attorney, as those persons who may provide written statements to be reviewed by the board prior to its consideration of a prisoner's offer to stipulate to unsuitability.

Subsection 2253 (c)(2) of the amended regulation reflects the statutory change by affording victims, victim's next of kin, members of the victim's immediate family, and two victim's representatives the opportunity to make a statement on the record if a stipulation to unsuitability is offered during the week of the scheduled hearing.

Subsection 2253 (d)(4) of the amended regulation reflects the statutory changes affording victims, victim's next of kin, members of the victim's immediate family, and two victim's representatives the opportunity to give a statement on the record if a postponement is granted during the week of the scheduled parole consideration hearing.

Subsection 2253 (e)(3) of the amended regulation reflects the statutory change by affording victims, victim's next of kin, members of the victim's immediate family, and two victim's representatives the opportunity to give a statement on the record if a continuance is granted during the scheduled parole consideration hearing.
